EDITORIAL

Going beyond the limitations of Gender- Men and Women are equal in value but not the same.

Very often the world gets caught in the maze of equality and giving special status to women. When we talk of equality why then do we propagate in parallel, a biased approach towards the fairer sex and chose special colours and occasions to treat them?

On women's day, when we look in retrospect, women have undoubtedly suffered a lot, and suppressed by the male. The wide chasm of difference needs to be bridged altogether. Having stated this, it should also be kept in mind that in the current scenario, fair chances and opportunity needs to be given to women to flourish, definitely not in terms of reservation, as sometimes, this aspect gets misunderstood.

Let us move a step ahead from this. Every being brings in different skill sets, experience and competence whether it is male or female. It is just the biological, social and cultural composition that makes these genders different and inspiring. Acknowledging this, the goal must be to provide equality to both in all the areas.

At Oriental, we emphasize on the similarities, shared by boy- and girl- students that are universal and fundamental, than the differences that are shaped by the family, education, culture and environment separating them. It is the upbringing of holistic individuals on campus who are interconnected yet independent in their approach, to explore limitless possibilities of their future.

I believe that the achievement of an organization is a result of the combined efforts of each individual. This college provides so many opportunities to the students. This is something that I learned at OIST MCA. The place that helped me build not only my career but an ambition that was fulfilled by the support of everyone. OIST believed in its students and that's what makes this college stand out among others. I wish this institution goes on doing great stuff and help students achieve their dreams.
